VEGAN & ORGANIC Chocolate

Discover the new vegan chocolate by Weiss.
The organic beans are coming from a small cooperative in Dominican Republic.

Those plant-based couvertures are made with rice and coconut whose incredible softness and smoothness in the mouth are reminiscent of milk.
They also have a low sweetness index, with the right amount of sugar, without compromise on delicacy and taste.

100 % of those couvertures are Clean Label.

VEGAN & ORGANIC Chocolate

Discover the new vegan chocolate by Weiss.
The organic beans are coming from a small cooperative in Dominican Republic.

Those plant-based couvertures are made with rice and coconut whose incredible softness and smoothness in the mouth are reminiscent of milk.
They also have a low sweetness index, with the right amount of sugar, without compromise on delicacy and taste.

100 % of those couvertures are Clean Label.

Boteh finds the origin of their name in the history of ancient Persia. Boteh comes from the term "Boteh Gegheh", the term boteh alone meaning "bouquet of flowers". The Boteh Gegheh evokes by its shape the foliage of a cypress, a conifer emblematic of the Persian Emperors.

Our Boteh compositions are not jams but culinary preparations that give pride of place to spices. Iran, ancient Persia, was at the heart of the spice route and welcomed ships and caravans from the East, bound for the West. Spices were then luxury products, real currency.

The proposed compositions are totally artisanal, resulting from cooking in pots of 10 to 11 kg maximum. The natural sugar content of the fruits chosen at perfect maturity, their optimum flavors, allow gourmet alliances and above all not very sweet."

The Black Gold Boteh is unique rich in powerfully spicy notes, made from the famous black lime Limou Amani Sia from Shiraz.

This lime is a small lemon harvested while still green, before maturity. It is boiled in salted water for 5 minutes. This will prevent it from fermenting and spoiling during the rest of the process. Once boiled, the limou is cooled and then taken to the desert where it is buried in the sand for 3 to 5 weeks. Limou bark then takes on a dark brown to black color, hardens until it becomes brittle. The pulp dries out and takes on candied notes.

This Boteh restores almost smoky, spicy, acidic, lemony notes. On the palate, the acidity is incisive and the bitterness elegant, with notes of candied citron and almost liquorice touches.

To be enjoyed as a condiment Sweet: Chocolate, chocolate mousse, fruit salad

Or as condiment Savory: Magrets, foie-gras, scallops, langoustines, skirt or flank steak, root vegetables, mackerel, sardines, sea bass, on an oyster
